CAR JUMPS TRACK

Leaves Switch and Bucks Into South Genesee Street
Bridge Railing

PASSENGERS IN A PANIC

Few Feet Farther Would Have Caused Plunge of Car Into Ravine and River Seventy Feet Below

Crowded with passengers fresh from their work at the mill and including a crowd of wire mill officials, Thursday an electric car ran off the track at the south end of the South Genesee street bridge at Waukegan and was saved from going seventy feet into the ravine below only by the strength of the railing that flanks the bridge and by the catching of one of the rear wheels onto the outside rail.

John Hoffman and Fred Hungebrauch had just left the spot on the railroad side of the bridge where the car struck and had they been two minutes later they would have been knocked off the bridge or crushed to death.

The car, number 187, north bound, in charge of motorman McGovern, had just left the switch, the front wheels traveling along all right. The rear wheels, however, left the tracks as they left the switch, a thing that is ascribed to the fact that gravel had lodged in the switch tracks.

For thirty feet the rear trucks traveled along before the car could be stopped, finally swinging around and banging into the bridge railing with a fearful crash that was heard over a block.

The only thing perhaps that saved the car from leaving the tracks completely and being dashed into the swollen Waukegan river, seventy feet below was the fact that the bridge railing retarded its progress while the weight of the car caused it to break through the wooden sidewalk by the side of the tracks and had it stuck there while the motorman applied the brakes and brought the machinery to a stop.

The miracle of the whole thing is that there were no fatalities whatever despite the fact that scores filled the car seats and were shaken up like dice in a box, landing on the floor and in each other's laps while shouts and screams rent the air.

Superintendent Waldeck, Chief Clerk Cawthorne, Assistant Superintendent Ingraham and others of the wire mill officials are reported to have been on the car. Passengers left and finished their journey on foot. The car was due at Washington and Genesee streets at five forty and the accident happened a few minutes before this.

The bridge railing was bent out towards the east, four feet by the force of the car's contact with it.

Within an hour after the accident the wrecker was on the scene and by eight o'clock no one would ever have known that Waukeganites had had so narrow an escape from what would most certainly have been a horrible catastrophe.

People who were in the car, when interviewed, said they never wished to go through such an experience again.

WILL MAKE BAKING POWDER IN WAUKEGAN

It is now officially announced that the Corn Products Refining Company of Waukegan proposes to enter into competition with the Royal Baking Powder Company in the manufacture of baking powder.

President E. T. Bodford of the Corn Products Refining Company before starting on a trip to Chicago and St. Louis said: "Yes, we are going into the baking powder business and expect to be able to offer baking powder to the trade in the early future. We will manufacture the highest grades of cream of tartar as well as the cheaper grades of phosphate powder."

If You Suffer from Headache.
Many suffer needlessly from headache. It is not a normal condition and unless due to some functional disorder or to defective eyes usually can be traced to overeating or to sleeping in badly ventilated rooms.

Be careful about your diet, take plenty of exercise, do not overstrain your eyes; above all get plenty of fresh air and your headaches are apt to vanish.

Never sleep in a room that has not at least one window up high, winter and summer. It will not do to ventilate from the next room or the hall; what is needed is air fresh from out of doors.

STRUCK BY ELECTRIC CAR

Frightened Horse Means of Bringing Death
Close to Men he Drew in Buggy

Driving north on Marion street in Waukegan at about 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Carl Nelson and Emil Fosberg were struck by a street car going south and both were badly injured.

As the two men in the rig neared the car their horse became frightened and while they strove for mastery at the reins and with the whip, it is said the horse turned directly into the path of the car, afterward twisting around toward the south so that he was safe from the car.

The car which was right on the rig when the horse bolted onto the tracks, sent the two men flying into the air and demolished the buggy leaving the horse unharmed.

The accident was witnessed by a half score or more of people and created considerable excitement. The ambulance was called and the two men were at once conveyed to the hospital.

Fosberg it is said is the worse injured of the two but will recover. Nelson received many marks, but is not seriously hurt. If no complications set in, recovery is certain for both men.

Friends of both strenuously deny that they were intoxicated at the time of the accident.

DANGER OF WRITING ON MAILED PAPERS

Government postoffice inspectors have collected from several persons in neighboring cities $10 each because postal laws have been violated, in that they have placed writing in lower class mail which is sent out at a less rate than is regularly charged. This is done by persons who are ignorant of the law but yet they are compelled to pay fines.

Section 484 of the postal laws and regulations provides: "Many persons who shall knowingly conceal or inclose any matter of a higher class in that of a lower class, and deposit or cause the same to be deposited for conveyance by mail, at a less rate than would be charged for both such higher and lower class matter, shall for every such offense be liable to a penalty of $10."

The above section is frequently violated by people who are ignorant of its provisions, and they are required to pay $10 for every mistake of this kind that they make. The postoffice inspectors collect large sums of money every year because of these mistakes.

The public should understand that the above section is violated whenever any writing is enclosed with newspapers, printed circulars, catalogues or any article of merchandise unless the letter rate of postage is paid thereon. Frequently boys and girls will enclose a short note with soap wrappers or tobacco tins when sending them in to be redeemed, or to get their premium, and neglect to pay the full letter rate of postage. They may be saving 2 cents in postage, but they will be required to pay $10 penalty for doing it.

Queer Effect of Extreme Cold.
Some idea of the effect of extreme cold can be gained from the account given by Dr. Kane of an incident which occurred when an expedition went north in search of Franklin. The crew organized some amateur theatricals, says Dr. Kane, and the condemnation was so excessive that "we could barely see the performers; any extra vehemence of delivery was accompanied by volumes of smoke; their hands steamed. When an excited performer took off his coat he steamed like a dish of potatoes."

SMOTHERED BABE; IS ARRESTED

Mrs. Alina Kauppila Says Her Baby Son Fell Asleep to Wake no More

WAS FOUND DEAD MONDAY

Chief Tyrrell of Waukegan Places Woman Under Arrest and a Thorough Investigation Will be Made

Mrs. Alina Kauppila of Oak street, Waukegan, is charged with the murder of her ten weeks' old son in bed Monday morning and has been lodged in the Lake county jail to await the results of an inquest.

The alleged crime was discovered Monday morning when Dr. Kolowsky was called to attend the infant and Chief Tyrrell at once proceeded to the house and put Mrs. Kauppila under arrest.

Not much is known of the precise manner in which the baby met its death. The most that could be learned is that Kathi Winko, a girl in the same tenement, heard the baby crying loudly and running in to Mrs. Kauppila is claimed to have found her deliberately lying on the top of the babe, strangling it to death with her own body.

There is another story that the babe was mislaid in a fight. It can not be confirmed.

Mrs. Kauppila when interviewed professed ignorance as to the manner in which her child came to its death and simply stated in broken English that the child fell asleep and did not again awaken.

The girl Kathi Winko, who resides in the same large house, entered the room occupied by mother and babe and discovered that the infant was dead. She gave the alarm and other occupants of the house came and viewed the remains.

Eric Johnson, another inmate of the house, saw the babe two hours before its death and states that it was apparently in good health at that time.

There are scores of other people, all of whom were summoned as witnesses at the inquest. The house is a tenement and five or six families inhabit it, there being beds in every room.

MAY UNSEAT SUPERVISOR APPLETON

Because Supervisor Thomas Appleton of Shields township has never filed his bond as supervisor with the town clerk of Shields and because therefore he has been unable to file his certificate of qualification with the county clerk, there is a move on among his political opponents to declare the office vacant and unseat him.

This is the first time such proceedings have been at all necessary. Mr. Appleton was elected a year ago.

Interviews with the town clerk of Shields and at the county clerk's office show that he has not qualified.

He attended recent meetings of the board including the last one.

The procedure will be to appoint his successor for the rest of the term.

SHOWS THE WHITE FEATHER

Arthur Nichols, Star Witness for State in Sensational Case is Missing

CANADA HIS DESTINATION

Attorney for the British Consul Makes Arrangements for Defense of Mrs.
Crewe Who Shot at Nichols

Sensational developments came in the Crewe case in the circuit court Monday.

Arthur Nichols, the state's star witness, who alleges that Mrs. Crewe shot at him in the police station with the intention of killing him, has disappeared.

The state has secured a continuance of the case on this basis.

Showing the white feather, Arthur Nichols, who was to have been served with a subpoena on Friday last, is alleged to have skipped this country to Canada to protect himself from having to take the stand and appear against Mrs. Maude Crewe, who is charged with assault with intent to kill, and whose case was to have been heard Monday, but will be required now to pass over until the next term of court, or in October.

State's Attorney Hanna immediately upon learning that Nichols had disappeared asked for a continuance on the grounds that it was absolutely necessary for the state to procure his evidence in the case.

As they were unable to do this, as Judge Donnelly realized this fact and as Attorney Moore of Chicago, the counsel for the defendant, agreed upon the continuance, the case was set for the first one among the people's cases for the October term of court.

Mrs. Maude Crewe, the defendant in the case, upon hearing that the judge had granted a continuance in the case, left the court room with a smile on her face, showing that she was more pleased to have a continuance than to have the matter dropped.

In an interview Mrs. Crewe stated that Nichols had disappeared. "Things would have been harder for him than for me," she stated.

An attempt was made to serve Nichols with a subpoena Thursday and every day thereafter, and when Deputy Sheriff Berry called he was told by Mrs. Nichols that Nichols was not at home and she did not know when he would be.

The general tip is that he left for Chicago. From there he is believed to have made tracks to some far distant point.

VOLIVA WILL START NEW STORE SOON

It is announced that Voliva by a deal completed recently, has purchased a site for his new general store on the old Carman place, near Ferry's, and will install the Winthrop Hardware stock he has purchased in the building which it is expected will be completed in two weeks. It will be 80 by 80 and is to be built outside of Zion City because it will not be tolerated inside.

MRS. GEORGE MORAN FREED

On Condition That She Devote Herself to Her Children

Touched by the story of Mrs. George Moran of Waukegan, who aided her husband in burglaries, it is said merely to feed the mouths of her suffering babes, Judge Donnelly, Monday morning, freed Mrs. Moran of the charges hanging over her.

She is now at the home of her mother and after a short visit there will go to Lake Bluff to make her home with Mrs. Fowler, who has offered her a new life, to be lived for her children alone.

Mrs. Moran, indicted with her husband, George Moran, on the charge of having committed robbery, was released by Judge Donnelly upon her own recognizance after the court had taken the matter under advisement for the last two weeks.

The court stated at the time the prisoners were arraigned at the opening of court, that he personally hated to send the young mother to jail more because he hated to blot the histories of her children more than anything else, and was of the opinion that it would never do her any good as she did not appear a criminal at heart.

Matron Judson of the Methodist Lake Bluff orphanage, where the Crewe children are confined, was present in the court room and when Judge Donnelly made this announcement. This kind hearted woman immediately offered Mrs. Moran a home. The offer was accepted. Mrs. Moran was made exceedingly joyful by the decision and promised the court to behave herself in the future.

RECEIVERSHIP OF ZION ENDS ON APRIL 1

Things are rapidly shaping themselves in Zion City in a business way, these days and the prospect is that the Hately receivership will end on April 1.

This is the first announcement of the receivership that has thus far been made, and comes from a source that makes it perfectly reliable.

Receiver Hately is said to be anxious to end the receivership as soon as possible and will sever his connections with Zion City at once on his formal discharge after his year's administration.

He is being pressed to head the committee of seven that is to rule Zion City in a business way but his family it is reported insists that he cease to administer to Zion affairs longer.

The city will be ruled by a seven trustees to be selected from a committee of twelve elected by the people recently. Three of the seven are to be outsiders and among them are John G. Shedd and Z. G. Simmons of Kenosha.

ARRESTED AS EMBEZZLER AT LIBERTYVILLE

Charles Farwell, alias Charles Smith of Libertyville, who had just come to that village from Chicago to take a position as driver on the John Bradley farm, was the other day arrested and taken to Chicago as an embezzler by Central Office Detective George Kelley.

Smith or Farwell had been working for Delos Hall & Company and is alleged to have gotten away with $18. He is about 17 years old and handled large sums of money.

"And this is the pigs' bathroom," said the twentieth century farmer, as he fitted an Egyptian cigarette into a long and elegant tube of meerschaum and amber.

"I have heard of hog wash, but I didn't know pigs bathed. Do they?"

The farmer struck a match on his London-made walking breeches.

"Yes, the modern pig bathes," he said. "With squeals of rage and disgust he tumbles once a week into a hot bath, and is thoroughly scrubbed with stiff brushes dipped in strong, soft soap. This cleanliness keeps him always well, and it increases his weight 20 per cent."

"All our agricultural colleges now advise the pig to bathe. By experimenters they continually show that baths cause him to fatten a fifth better. The pig's bathroom is a feature of the twentieth century farm."

FOWLER DAIRY LEASED

Ohlhaber and Cooley Take Charge of Waukegan's
Leading Dairy

NEW FIRM ARE LIVE ONES

Will Take Aggressive Stand and Work for Business Along Length of Electric Road

By a deal completed Saturday, papers in which were filed Monday in the recorder's office, Albert Ohlhaber of Joliet, and A. B. Cooley of Chicago, under the new firm name of Ohlhaber & Cooley, have leased for five years with the privilege of renewal for the same period, the business of the North Shore Pure Food Company of Waukegan, familiarly known as the Fowler dairy.

The deal, which severs the last business link that Frank T. Fowler has with the city of Waukegan, calls for a rental of $1,440 for the first five years on an average and of $1,800 a year for the succeeding five years if a renewal is desired.

The new firm will continue the business of the old firm, in dairying, ice cream making, etc., but will add several new features in that new butter will be made every day and a specialty will be made of butter-milk.

Albert Ohlhaber owns similar plants at Joliet and Aurora and is extensively engaged in the manufacture of artificial ice, a branch that he may take up in Waukegan also.

Mr. Cooley will be the manager of the plant. He is a Chicagoan with extensive business interests. There will be no changes in the present force of the Fowler dairy. The new management took charge Monday.

The deal has been on since March 2. The transaction is considered a good one all around, as the Fowler dairy lands, while Mr. Fowler does a good stroke of business.

Ohlhaber has a large candy factory, bakery, ice cream and ice business in Joliet and is a man possessed of ample capital.

The new firm buys the Fowler outfit outright.

Mr. Ohlhaber is a member of the state and national ice cream makers' associations and is a leader in the business.

The two new men added to Waukegan's business world are characterized as live ones. They will maintain and increase the reputation of the noted dairy for cleanliness and sanitary precautions and will go for business into territory that will extend up and down the north shore wherever the electric cars penetrate.

MATTER FOR THE SCIENTISTS.

Theory as to Whether We Live Inside or Outside Earth.

There are a number of believers in the theory that we are living inside the earth instead of outside. These unpleasant people want us to admit that we are surrounded by a shell like a huge nut. Just what good it will do us to admit this isn't clear. About the only benefit to be derived from the information, as far as we can see at present is the possibility that the halibuts may prepare themselves for a hard bump against the inner side of the shell if they ever go up too high.

We are also told that the acceptance of this kernel in the nut theory will explain many things—none of which we remember.

It will also upset a great many things with which we are familiar and which, on the whole, we like pretty well.

This leads us to remark that we prefer to believe we are out. At the same time if the inside facts are convincing, we are open to conviction.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Butterflies in Mimicry.

Caterpillars and butterflies go far in the line of mimicry. They assume the strangest, most impossible disguises, appearing now in the shape of a leaf or stem, now as a bundle of dark-green pine needles, and now again as a bud or flower, all for the innocent purpose of concealing themselves from the inquisitive gaze of their enemies, the birds. When the caterpillar lives on the grass, he is striped up and down like the foliage that supports him. When he feeds upon broad leaves that have midribs and branching veins, his stripes and streaks run crossways at the same angle as those of the food plant.

SYNOPSIS.

Burton H. Barnes, a wealthy American touring Corsica, rescues the young English lieutenant, Edward Gerard Anstruther, and his Corsican bride, Marina, daughter of the family from the murderous vendetta, understanding that his reward is to be the hand of the girl he loves. End Anstruther, sister of the English lieutenant, the family from Ajaccio to Marseilles on board the French steamer Constantine. The vendetta pursues and the quiet are about to board the train for London at Marseilles, Marina is invited to a mysterious note which causes her to collapse and necessitates a postponement of the journey. Barnes gets part of the mysterious note and receives letters which inform him that he is marked by the vendetta. He employs an American detective and plans to beat the vendetta at their own game. For the purpose of securing the safety of the women Barnes arranges to have Lady Charlis lease a secluded villa at Nice to which the party is to be taken in a yacht. Suspicion is created that Marina is in league with the Corsicans. A man, believed to be Corregio Danella, is seen passing the house and Marina thought to have given him a sign. Marina refuses to explain to Barnes which fact adds to his latent suspicions. Barnes plans for the safety of the party. The carriage carrying the party to the local landing is killed by two men. One of the horsemen is supposed to be Corregio. They try to murder the American. The cook on the yacht a Frenchman is suspected of complicity. The party anchors at St. Tropez. The yacht is followed by a small boat. The cook is detected giving signals to the boat. Barnes attempts to throw him overboard, but is prevented by Marina and End. The cook is found to be innocent of the supposed plot and is forgiven. The party arrive at Nice and find Lady Charlis and her daughter, Maud, domiciled in the villa rented with Barnes' money. Barnes is amazed to find that Count Corregio is at Nice and is acting the role of admirer to Lady Charlis. He learns that Count Corregio had been in Nice for some time prior to the party's arrival. The count warns Barnes not to marry End unless he would have her also involved in the murderous feud. Barnes and End are married.

"So much so you tried to stop it," rejoins Barnes, "driving to keep the anger from his tongue."

"All, Madame Blackwood told you our conversation." The Corsican laughs slightly. "I confess I should have done even more to prevent or postpone your nuptials had I seen your bride before and known her extreme youth, beauty and innocence."

The American is about to interrupt him, but Cipriano continues, a strain of sadness in his voice: "Therefore I am very sorry that I didn't arrive before your nuptials. You were the companion of my dead brother, who went mad on shooting with him several times in Corsica. As such I wished in friendship to warn you not to make any woman your bride; at all events, not till an unhappy suspicion had been settled forever. Some of the natives of Bocognano, who loved my brother, believe that his death was in some way attributable to you, not personally, perhaps, but it would please me if you would give me the particulars as you understand them of the murder of my brother."

"Certainly, all the particulars," replies Burton, anxious to make this man understand the true facts of his brother's death, and thinking, perhaps, he can convince Corregio that Musso Danella's assassination came from his own vindictive love of revenge. Therefore, concisely, yet rapidly and logically, Mr. Barnes relates the details of Musso Danella's being stabbed by the old Corsican Tommaso Mondali in mistake for Edwin Anstruther in Marina's bridal chamber nearly two weeks before.

"Yes, but our people believe that you in some way aided it."

"I beg your pardon. Your brother was dead almost as I dismounted from my horse at the house," sharply returns the American.

"Yes, but the natives of Bocognano declare it was by your arts—by your telegram—that I and they have been bereft."

"They say," cries the Corsican, trying to stifle an almost uncontrollable grief, "that poor Musso was done to death by the arts of foreigners, who came to the island for a nuptial fête but bringing blood with them. They say this naval officer in that house there pretends he didn't slay Antonio, the brother of Marina, because he fears Marina's vow of vendetta, and that she, my brother's ward, gave poor Musso to his assassin to save her husband from a vengeance all Corsicans think righteous. I am only repeating to you that this is what the people of Bocognano think," he says, controlling himself. "They have sworn the vendetta against you, Monsieur Barnes, also against Marina Paoli, who has forgotten, in this naval lieutenant's arms, to avenge her brother. As the woman my poor dead brother brought up from childhood, I feel Marina should at least have protection. Therefore I tell you what my friends in Corsica say, that you and she may have warning."

"And you can tell your friends in Corsica," answers the American, "that if they bother me, or my bride or any of us, I shall plant them with no more compunction than a western gun man would."

"Diable, I have heard of your wonderful precision with the pistol from my dead brother many times," remarks Cipriano, with almost a shudder. Then his eyes catching a gleam of light from the distant landing stage, pauses with a little start of triumph and adds: "But I have said all possible to warn you, Signore Amerleano. The rest is not my affair, though I would like to voice a few words to Madame Paoli, who was my brother's ward."

"I do not think her husband will let you," answers Burton. "At all events, he won't let you wrack her nerves by mentioning the awful tragedy."

So the two together return to the house. They reenter the supper room where Lady Charlis takes possession of Cipriano, notwithstanding his eyes follow every movement of the beautiful Marina.

A moment later Barnes asks Lady Charlis suddenly where his bride is.

"Oh, she's gone up to her chamber to primp for going away," cries Maud, "and you haven't given me any bridesmaid's present, either." This last is emphasized by a very sullen pout.

"Oh, that will arrive after I return from my honeymoon cruise," returns the American, lightly, and runs up the stairs to the chamber lately occupied by Marina.

As he reaches the door of the upper room, Lady Charlis's voice is saying, "Dear Count Cipriano, about your interest in your late brother's ward and have another glass of wine to again toast the bride."

But the bridegroom's awful face as he enters stops revelry. Marina with a little shriek rises from a sofa on which she has been seated beside Cipriano Danella, and Edwin, springing up, says: "What's happened?"

In all his fears and all his agony, into the vengeful husband's mind as looks upon the party, one mighty consideration springs, that saves Danella's life: "By heaven, this man's remaining here indicates his innocence. If Cipriano had aught to do with the abduction of my wife, he'd scarcely dare to stand unconcerned here before me." For the count's gaze is carelessly not turned to him, but lingers admiringly upon Marina.

The easy bearing of Danella continues as Barnes briefly tells his tale, though once or twice he raises his thin Italian eyebrows and rolls his dark eyes in sympathy.

"Dio mio, it is as I feared!" exclaims the count sorrowfully. "They have seized your lovely bride."

"Oh, if they're drowning poor End now!" cries Maud, with a childish morbidness.

"Oh, I do not imagine any injury will come immediately to the young lady. Lately, in the vendetta, women who do not bring about the tragedy are spared," remarks Cipriano quite sympathetically, though his glance rests malevolently upon Marina till her passionate beauty seems to soften his austerity. "But in Bocognano I imagine they wish a visit from you, Mr. Barnes, to rescue your bride," he continues dryly. "You see, in Corsica, a native jury would look much more leniently than a continental one upon the death of the vendetta. That's only my surmise, but I am quite confident it's the correct one."

"Thank you, count," says Barnes, "you have told me just what I wanted to know—the location of my loved one!" Then his voice becomes strident; he remarks grimly: "Your friends want a visit from me in Corsica—they shall have one!" To this he adds eagerly: "Danella, come over with me to the island."

"Mon cher Monsieur Barnes," says Danella, "though I would willingly aid you, it would not be wise to go with you to Corsica. Should I tell you in that island, you might blame me, of whom you have already had, I am sorry to say, suspicion. As I said before, my poor brother is dead, I meddle in this affair no more. I remain to soothe the Lady Charlis in Nice."

"Thank God!" ejaculates Prunella, sentimentally seizing Danella's hand.

"Yes, I will stay," remarks the count, heretically.

Suddenly Marina starts them all. She says dominantly: "No one should go to Corsica but me. In the home of my fathers and my kindred—they will believe me when I tell them there is no cause for a vendetta against my friends. I can save your bride, dear Burton, and bring her back to you. My words will have weight with all in Bocognano."

"It would be most unwise!" dissents Danella, shudderingly. "Have they not declared the vendetta even against you, Marina? Does not Bernardo Saliceti swear that you, by your arts, produced the death of the father of the girl, Etheria, he is about to marry, old Tommaso Mondali's daughter?"

"Monstrous!" cries the girl mournfully. "Who dares to accuse me of the death of poor faithful Tommaso, my foster father who worshipped me—and whom I adored?" Tears make her dark eyes tender, but she continues enthusiastically: "Pah, they love me—they will not believe! My people even worship the name of the Prunella. I'll meet Saliceti and prove to the whole commune that he lies!" Her eyes are now those of a Corsican.

"And by heaven, I'll go with you to save my sister!" cries Edwin.

"Ah, that is right—to save your sister," answers Danella excitedly. "But Madame Anstruther should remain here with Lady Charlis. Only men should go. 'Tis a man's duty, Lieutenant."

Size of Oregon Mosquitoes.

The late Col. L. L. Hawkins was fond of telling a mosquito story of his own, when Mazamas, galloped round their evening campfire, had to fight off the stinging pest at the foot of snow mountains, where the "hot footed birds" are often troublesome. "You can talk about your big mosquitoes," said he, after the tale telling drifted into fairy topics, "but we (meaning Rodney Gilean and himself) can tell something about mosquitoes ourselves. We climbed Skinner's Butte," at Eugene, to see the sunset. After we had watched the sun awhile it was obscured by a dense cloud of tremendous mosquitoes. They were the hugest I ever saw. Here somebody usually asked: "How big were they, colonel?" "They were so big," was the response, "that many of them weighed a pound." Strange to say, Col. Hawkins never suffered bodily injury from telling this story.—Portland Oregonian.

By heaven, somebody's gone away with the yacht!" gasps Graham.

"And with it on board my bride!" booms Barnes. "They have gone away by water; we must follow by water. Graham, get across the harbor and charter some smart craft that can chase the yacht."

The mate says quietly: "I understand, and lights a boat's lantern, as the night is very dark."

As the match gives out its glow, Barnes utters a short, sharp exclamation and seizes a small piece of paper tucked on the wooden balustrade of the landing place.

"Your light!" he commands; then mutters: "By the Lord, their message!" for he reads by the flickering flame in foreign script: "Amerleano."

"If you would rescue your bride, come to Corsica!"

CHAPTER X.

The Missing Fragment of the Letter.

As Graham departs on his errand, the bereft bridegroom, whose face has grown dovish, mutters: "By heaven, there's a gentleman in that house up there I must see first!" and darts up the path to Lady Charlis's villa, reflecting: "Her fate I must not think of! That would madden me. My mind must be clear to save my darling."

As he reaches the door of the upper room, Lady Charlis's voice is saying, "Dear Count Cipriano, about your interest in your late brother's ward and have another glass of wine to again toast the bride."

But the bridegroom's awful face as he enters stops revelry. Marina with a little shriek rises from a sofa on which she has been seated beside Cipriano Danella, and Edwin, springing up, says: "What's happened?"

In all his fears and all his agony, into the vengeful husband's mind as looks upon the party, one mighty consideration springs, that saves Danella's life: "By heaven, this man's remaining here indicates his innocence. If Cipriano had aught to do with the abduction of my wife, he'd scarcely dare to stand unconcerned here before me." For the count's gaze is carelessly not turned to him, but lingers admiringly upon Marina.

The easy bearing of Danella continues as Barnes briefly tells his tale, though once or twice he raises his thin Italian eyebrows and rolls his dark eyes in sympathy.

"Dio mio, it is as I feared!" exclaims the count sorrowfully. "They have seized your lovely bride."

"Oh, if they're drowning poor End now!" cries Maud, with a childish morbidness.

"Oh, I do not imagine any injury will come immediately to the young lady. Lately, in the vendetta, women who do not bring about the tragedy are spared," remarks Cipriano quite sympathetically, though his glance rests malevolently upon Marina till her passionate beauty seems to soften his austerity. "But in Bocognano I imagine they wish a visit from you, Mr. Barnes, to rescue your bride," he continues dryly. "You see, in Corsica, a native jury would look much more leniently than a continental one upon the death of the vendetta. That's only my surmise, but I am quite confident it's the correct one."

OUTWITTED HEIRS AND LAWYERS

Clever Ruse Wins Trick for William Jack of Peoria.

Peoria.—With the assistance of a negro servant, William Jack, who lives with his millionaire father, I. A. Jack, outwitted a Chicago attorney, Harry Simonton, and two hostile heirs who had come to see the aged capitalist and talk over the terms of his proposed will.

The son, William, is accused by the other heirs of virtually keeping his father prisoner in the house in an effort to secure a lion's share of the estate. A son, Noel Jack, and a nephew, Roy Jack, called at the home with Attorney Simonton.

A negro servant signaled the visitors one at a time to step out on the front porch. William was there, presumably to speak with them privately. When they had stepped outside with him he quickly slipped into the house and locked the door, leaving them out in the cold. The father is 80 years old.

WILL NOT BE VOTED ON.

Question of Sunday Saloons for Chicago Barred from Ballot.

Chicago.—The question of Sunday saloons will not be on the ballot at the aldermanic election April 7.

The saloon issue as a general city issue was wiped out by a decision of the election commissioners holding that the question of enforcing a law is not proper for submission under the public policy act.

There will remain the individual contests in which the personal liberty advocates and the liquor interests will endeavor to defeat candidates for the city council whose records do not suit them, but the general issue which was in the formative stage two months ago has disappeared.

His Choice.

A country clergyman on his round of visits interviewed a youngster as to his acquaintance with Bible stories.

"My lad," he said, "you have, of course, heard of the parables?"

"Yes, sir," shyly answered the boy, whose mother had inducted him in sacred history. "Yes, sir."

"Good!" said the clergyman. "Now which of them do you like the best of all?"

The boy squirmed, but at last, heeding his mother's frowns, he replied:

"I guess I like that one where somebody loafs and fishes."

NOT SO BAD AS HE LOOKED.

She—Then you admit that you only married me for my money?

He—Well, I'm glad you know that at least I'm not a fool.

MUSIC STUDENTS

Should Have Steady Nerves.

The nervous system of the musician is often very sensitive and any habit like coffee drinking may so upset the nerves as to make regular and necessary daily practice next to impossible.

"I practice from seven to eight hours a day and study Harmony two hours," writes a Mich. music student. "Last September I was so nervous I could only practice a few minutes at a time, and mother said I would have to drop my music for a year."

"This was terribly discouraging as I couldn't bear the thought of losing a whole year of study. Becoming convinced that my nervousness was caused largely by coffee, and seeing Postum so highly spoken of, I decided I would test it for a while."

"Mother followed the directions carefully and I thought I had never tasted such a delicious drink. We drank Postum every morning instead of coffee, and by November I felt more like myself than for years, and was ready to resume my music."

"I now practice as usual, do my studying and when my day's work is finished I am not any more nervous than when I began."

"I cannot too highly recommend Postum to musicians, who practice half a day. My father is a physician and recommends Postum to his patients. Words cannot express my appreciation for this most valuable health beverage, and experience has proven its superiority over all others." "There's a Reason."

A SUPPOSITIONAL CASE

Mr. Buddy Seake Advice on a Point of Law.

One of our lawyers, Mr. Simms, had a visit recently from a man named Buddy. Mr. Buddy entered the office upon crutches, and his face was covered with contusions, so that he looked as if he had emerged from a terrible conflict with an antagonist who had won a complete victory. Placing his crutches against the table and seating himself very carefully in the chair, Mr. Buddy said:

"Mr. Simms, I just dropped in to see you to get a little advice on a point of law in which I'm interested, and I'd be much obliged if you'd tell me exactly what my rights in the matter are. I'll put it in this way: I suppose you were to marry a widder, under the idea that she was an angel—that she was so sweet that a barrel of sugar was more bitterness alongside of her; and I suppose after you were consoling and hugging her, she would find out that she had a temper like a she wildcat, and an unconquerable custom of banging you over the head with skillets or most anything that came handy, so that you didn't know what minute she'd get her mad up and skewer you pretty near to death.

"Now, I suppose this widder and you was to disagree about a little matter of owing her backer in the house and trying to spit in the stove, and she was to up and tell you—in your own house, mind you—that if you kept aiming at that stove and missing it, she'd warm you up with a broom handle or the like; and you were to say that you'd chew where you'd a mind to, and that while it was a free country you'd hit the stove or miss it, just as you pleased.

"And I suppose one word brought on another, until she got on a terrible rampage and come at you and tried to snatch out your hair; while you grabbed her by the wrists and held her so she couldn't. And then I suppose while you were ransacking with her you was to get the best of it so's she couldn't do anything but have the hysterics and scream and you all the time afraid to let go lest she'd hustle you out through the window.

"Now, I suppose that widder had a dog which belonged to her first husband, and would rather bite you than not, and all of a sudden she was to holler for that dog, and he was to come bounding into the room, and, seeing the widder's situation, was to take hold of a mouthful of your right leg, and shake it as though he was going to bite it loose before he left; and the widder all the time sicking him on and encouraging him to help himself without any regard for your feelings. And I suppose when you let go of her to tackle the dog she should hang you with the scrubbing-brush until you looked as if you'd been ground up in a bark-mill, and then wouldn't call off the dog until you hollered enough.

"I suppose all this, what I want to know is, can't you sue that widder for assault and battery, and get an injunction on that dog? That's what I came to see you about, whether you've got to stand having your leg chewed and your head smashed with a scrubbing-brush, or whether this great and free government's going to protect its defenseless citizens. I want to know how it is."

Mr. Simms looked very solemn for a moment, as if contemplating the problem carefully, and then he said:

"I don't really see that the law can do anything in such a case, Mr. Buddy. If the man married the widow he became part owner of the dog, and it was, therefore, in fact his own dog that assaulted him. Besides that, as a man and his wife are one flesh, the widow has a partnership interest in the man's leg, and when she set the dog upon it she was really encouraging the animal to mutilate her own property. No action can lie against a person who induces her own dog to bite her own leg, nor will the law give her redress if she batters her own head with her own hands, for the wife who strikes her husband really strikes herself."

"You don't mean to say," exclaimed Mr. Buddy, in a blaze of indignation, "that that is the law of this land, of this very country where our forefathers bled for liberty? You don't actually mean to tell me that a red-headed widder, with a liver-colored dog, can actually make that dog gnaw a man's leg into sausage meat while she trounces him with a club, and that he can't chuck her into jail for it; that he's got to stand up and take it?"

"I'm afraid he has," said Simms, with a sad smile.

"Well, then," said Buddy, rising and seizing his crutches, "that just lets me out as far as this idiotic land is concerned. I'm going to quit. If widders are to be allowed to carry on as if men had no rights, I'll emigrate and hunt up some country where enlightened civilization don't allow widders to live. Let's see, it's India, isn't it, where they kill the widder when her first husband dies? Well, that's where I'm going. I'm going by the first boat. If I stay here I'll be dead in a month, and so chewed up that they'll have to bring me in pieces. Good morning."

And Mr. Buddy hobbled away disconsolate.

Rubber Industry Booms Town.

The Spring Colors.

The leading colors of spring—to quote a French authority—will be blue, yellow and brown, with a great deal of plum color mixed in. There are also several new shades of green, one of which, new leaf green, is gaining in popularity. Yet it is rather trying in tone. Purple will always be worn. In the yellows one sees a great deal of sulphur yellow. And there is mustard, which is a very good color indeed. Cream, chartreuse, golden brown and apricot yellow are all to be a great deal seen. And in blue there are some lovely new tones, but the most popular blue will be atlantic, a blue which is neither light nor dark, but a clear, lovely medium tone, very restful to the eye and becoming to the figure. It is a blue with not a particle of gray in it.

Machine Plushion.
Make a crescent plushion from two pieces of silk or woolen material, stitched together on the concave side and partly on the other, then stuffed with hair, wool, or fine sawdust. After closing, briarstitch over the seams and suspend from the arm of the sewing machine by little ribbons attached to the points of the crescent.

NOW THE BETROTHAL BRACELET.

Ornament That Bids Fair to Supersede the Ring.

The very latest token of an accepted affection is a bracelet. Consequently, despite the hold which the ring has on the traditions of betrothal, jewelers may expect to be harassed by demands for some design which will express the individual quality of each lover's preference.

The betrothal bracelet or arm amulet—you can have your choice of alterations—is said to have been introduced by Prince George of Greece, who cemented his engagement with Princess Marie Bonaparte by giving her a bracelet made to fit the arm close up to the shoulder. The bracelet given by the prince consisted of two golden bands, which, clasped in an antique design and studded with diamonds and sapphires, were held by a clasp of diamonds.

In all cases the betrothal bracelet must consist of two bands and it is the sentiment of these two bands, typifying as they do the union of two beings, which promises to the betrothal bracelet future preference over the less expressive ring.

Law and Justice.
It is pretty difficult to get people to discover any justice in a law which interferes with their schemes for acquiring wealth.

Their Point of View.
"Don't you think," asked one sheep in the flock of another, "that it is absurd for humans to be cutting off our wool in the way they do?"
"I should say so," answered the other. "I call it sheer nonsense."

The Toilet Table

Physicians say that reading aloud is one of the best of exercises. Be extremely careful these days, with grip rampant, not to get the feet wet. More colds are taken through the feet and ankles than in any other way.

It is not a bad idea to have a silico or two of lemon in a glass beside one's bed. In the morning cool water, which has been standing in a covered pitcher, can be poured over the lemon and drunk before arising.

While lemon and water is an admirable drink for anyone who is not troubled with overacidity care must be taken that it is not too strong. A silico or two of lemon, or, at the most, a half lemon, is quite enough for a tumbler of water.

Do not think you are strong enough to wear low shoes on the street in winter. It apparently may not hurt you now, but it is laying the seeds of weakness that with the first heavy cold or run-down condition will bear bitter fruit.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Most Americans will rejoice if it proves true that the death sentence passed upon General Stoessel has been commuted to a year of imprisonment. And yet it would probably have been more merciful to have shot him.

It is no use for Emma Goldman to complain that she is not allowed to speak her mind. She has had four years in which to do it without interruption from the police and if that has not sufficed she should go where there is no time.

An Indiana old soldier has been arrested for writing "Uncle Joe" Cannon that he does not "own the earth". We admit that the old soldier is wrong but we did not know that it would be construed as less majestic for him to say it.

When, after some terrible disaster such as occurred in the Collingwood school, the authorities make inquiries regarding local conditions, there is always some fool to say, "Oh yes, lock the barn door after the horse is stolen". And yet it is not better to profit by such an experience than to wait until one occurs nearer home.

Because Japan has become a world power she is blooming poor, overgrown China. China has neither the military establishment nor funds to strike back. In fact, some people believe that Japan now purposes to secure all the advantages of which she was deprived by the interference of the powers after the Chinese-Japanese war.

Ex-Chief Engineer Stevens announces publicly that the Panama Canal, for the supervision of which he formerly drew $30,000 a year, will prove a failure; that it will be of no use to the United States when completed. Poor John Stevens will probably never get over the President's accepting the resignation. John didn't mean it.

Up to March 7, one hundred thirty-eight delegates had been elected to the Republican National Convention, of which 108 are instructed for Taft, 26 for Fairbanks and 4 are non-instructed. According to the most carefully prepared estimates, Secretary Taft will get 410 delegates exclusive of the Southern States, all of whom will send Taft delegations although there will also doubtless be contesting anti-Taft delegations from many of them. Senator Aldrich, one of the most astute politicians in the Senate, who has all along been for Senator Knox for President, declares it is no use longer opposing Taft and he is advising his friends to get into the Taft bandwagon.

Does Your Heart Beat

Yes. 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. And you know precisely what to take for bad blood—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Doctors have endorsed it for 60 years.

One frequent cause of bad blood is a sluggish liver. This produces constipation. Purgative substances are then absorbed into the blood. Keep the bowels open with Ayer's Pills.

GOOD ADVICE FOR HUSBANDS.

Written Long Ago, But in Every Way
Applicable To-Day.

A clergyman took down a small volume.
"This is called," he said, "the Instructions of Ptah-hotep." It is one of the very oldest papyrus writings known. It gives, among other things, advice to husbands, and that advice is as good to-day as it ever was. Listen:
"And he read:
"If thou be wise, furnish thy house
well.
"Woo thy wife ever, and never quarrel with her.
"Nourish her daintily.
"Deck her out, for fine dress is her greatest delight.
"Feed her upon sweets.
"Perfume her.
"Make her glad with praise.
"Adorn her with jewels, feathers, and the skins of beasts, as sumptuously as thy purse will suffer."

Best Healer in the World.

Rev. F. Starbird, of East Raymond,
Maine, says: "I have used Bucklen's Arnica Salve for several years, on my old army wound, and other obstinate sores, and find it the best healer in the world. I use it too with great success in my veterinary business." Price 25c. at J. H. Swan's drug store.

Pernicious Industry.

ning down a man with a motor car strange that some people cannot confine their brutal propensities to office hours.—New York American.

This is what Hon. Jake Moore, State Warden of Georgia, says of Kodol For Dyspepsia: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.—Dear Sirs—I have suffered more than twenty years from indigestion.
About eighteen months ago I had grown so much worse that I could not digest a crust of corn bread and could not retain anything on my stomach; I lost 25 lbs.; in fact I made up my mind that I could not live but a short time, when a friend of mine recommended Kodol. I consented to try it to please him and I was better in one day. I now weigh more than I ever did in my life and am in better health than for many years. Kodol did it. I keep a bottle constantly, and write this hoping that humanity will be benefited. Yours very truly, Jake C. Moore, Atlanta, Aug.
10, 1904." Sold by J. H. Swan.

Weak Kidneys

There's one thing about a self-running steam furnace that is surprising, and that is how busy a man is kept running it.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The kidneys, like the heart, and the stomach, and their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specially prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the kidneys alone is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.
If your back aches, or is weak, if the urine is dark, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative monthly. Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggists recommend and sell.

Kitty's Music

"Thank you," Colgrove would say when Kitty had finished hitting the piano. "That was fine—I enjoyed it so much! Give us another!"

Then the others present would either frown at Colgrove darkly or else stare at him very weakly, uncomprehen-singly. For while Kitty was the prettiest creature on earth, she also held the record for being the worst musician imaginable.

Of course Col-
grove was in love with her. But so were the others, for that matter, and his state of mind was no excuse for utter imbecility. That was how the others looked at it.
Possibly they were prejudiced by the fact that Kitty if she showed partially for any one showed it for Col-grove. Dickson, being aspiring, tried bravely to emulate Colgrove's plan, but his voice was weak and unconvincing when he requested more music after Kitty had tolled through the "Moonlight Sonata," so she said she was tired and refused him. She added with a touch of severity that any one who really loved music would realize that the sonata took all the best in one and left no power to give another selection as it should be given. Col-grove said "Of course," stertorily. So Dickson retired to a bookcase, where he pretended to be interested in the titles on the leather and cloth backs.

All Kitty's admirers wondered why she did it. The more hours a day she gave up to her practice the worse she played. When a girl was as pretty as she was a man was sufficiently entertained just by looking at her or listening to her talk. There was really no reason for her going in so desperately for music.

"One would think she had made a vow," young Seth declared, irritably, after an evening when he had not been able to exchange more than a word with Kitty. "Colgrove kept her at the piano all the time. Is he stone deaf or does he think he can get rid of the rest of us that way? I guess I can stand it as long as he can! He certainly can't enjoy it!"

"He acts as if he did," Dickson asserted, gloomily. "And he always gets the chair nearest the piano where he can turn the leaves and hunt up music and all that!"
Even Kitty's family, in the privacy of their own councils, said with awe that Colgrove certainly must be very much in love with Kitty to endure the racket.

Colgrove said her talent was wonderful and boasted about it. Whenever new acquaintances came in he would cough and say: "Won't you play something, Kitty?" Then to the respectful listeners: "That's one nice thing about Miss Trouble, you never have to ask her twice!"

When invitations were out to Colgrove's and Kitty's wedding all the disappointed rivals tried to pretend that they were sorry for him. One of them, more revengeful than the others, had an inspiration. The result was that among the wedding presents there shone resplendent a handsome piano with a card bearing ten names attached. The ten were the chief of the disappointed rivals.

Colgrove and Kitty, looking over their gifts the day before the wedding, paused before the mahogany case.

"It's a beauty," Colgrove said, onthustastically.
"Yes," said Kitty, listlessly. There was a smoldering light in her eyes as she glanced at the piano which was new to Colgrove.

"Don't you like it?" he asked, anxiously. "Isn't it the kind you wanted, or—"

"I hate it!" she sobbed. "I hate every piano on earth! I was so—so happy thinking
we couldn't afford to buy one right away, and now
the mean things have sent this on purpose! But I—I will try to keep up my music, because I know how you like it! That —that's the only reason I ever practiced at all!"

A great and joyful light broke across Colgrove's face and the sigh
he heaved was tremendous.
"You dear
thing!" he said.
"I'll be honest,
too. I don't like it! I acted that way because I thought you were wrapped up in music! I believe I hate it, too!"

And to this day the disappointed ten rivals wonder what magic Colgrove used to lull his wife to quiet playing. Anyhow the piano is a real ornament to the Colgrove-living room.

Thousands Have Kidney

Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.
Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patients and physicians, who continue themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage.
It corrects inability to hold water and sending pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.
You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free
by mail. Address Dr.

Commander Craven Yielded Life That Pilot Might Be Saved.

The higher and more valuable a life the more ready it is to lay itself at the service of others. It would sometimes seem that the sacrifice were too great as in the example instanced by Mr. Hutchinson in his "Battle of Mobile Bay." Yet the very act of heroism impresses the merit of the whole character with a dignity and worth which carries it far in influence and reverence.

During the battle a shot from the shore struck a cork torpedo and exploded it near the Tecumseh. A hole was torn in the bottom 20 feet square and the ram sank like a stone, turning over on its side. In eight fathoms of water. One hundred and ten men out of 120 were lost in an instant.

Commander Craven, one of the most gallant officers of the service, was in the pilot-house with the pilot, close to the only opening in the vessel. There was only room for one man to pass. Craven felt himself grasped by the leg. "It was the pilot."

"Let me get out first, for God's sake, captain!" he cried. "I have five little children."

The captain drew back. "Go on, sir," he said, and he went down with the ship, while the pilot was saved.

ANYTHING TO OBLIGE A LADY.

Gallant Dancer Simply Misunderstood Fair Partner's Request.

The story is told of a young Oregon girl, a favorite in society, but who was poor and had to take care not to get her evening gowns soiled, as her number was limited.

At a dance not long ago a great big, red-faced, perspiring man came in and asked her to dance. He wore no gloves. She looked at the well-meaning but moist hands despairingly and thought of the immaculate back of her waist. She hesitated a bit and then said, with a winning smile:

"Of course I will dance with you, but if you don't mind, won't you please use your handkerchief?" The man looked at her blankly a moment or two. Then a light broke over his face.

"Why, certainly," he said. And he pulled out his handkerchief and blew his nose.—Woman's Home Companion.

RECORD CRUISE OF BATTLESHIP FLEET NEAR END.

VESSELS IN FINE SHAPE

Squadron to Complete Trip in San Francisco After Target Practice—Entertainments for Sailors Planned.

PROGRESS OF FLEET'S CRUISE.

Sailed from Hampton Roads December 16, after send-off by President Roosevelt. Reached Trinidad December 24 and stopped four days. Sailed from Trinidad December 28 and arrived at Rio Janeiro January 11 for a stop of ten days. Sailed from Rio Janeiro January 21 and reached Punta Arenas, Straits of Magellan, January 31. Left Punta Arenas February 5 and arrived at Callao, Peru, February 15. Sailed from Callao February 23 and arrived at Magdalena Bay, Lower California, March 12. Total length of cruise from Hampton Roads to San Francisco, 14,000 miles.

San Diego, Cal.—When the American battleship fleet under command of Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans steamed Thursday into Magdalena bay, passing through the rocky gateway marked by Sall Rock on the north and Redondo point on the south and dropped anchors behind the high peninsula's promontory which stretched a protecting arm down from the main land and makes Men-o-War cove the most sheltered harbor of the lower Pacific coast, the history making naval cruise of more than 13,000 miles begun at Hampton Roads less than three months ago, practically came to an end. Magdalena is the present naval base of the Pacific for American target work and battle practice drills, and by right of temporary ownership through government lease, the vessels, if not the men of the fleet, may feel that they are again in home waters. There remains to be made the trip from Magdalena bay to San Francisco, the destination originally announced, and a matter of some 1,100 miles, but it will not be begun until after target practice is concluded and fleet drills are done. This last stage of the journey will be a tour of holiday making, with stops at San Diego, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and Santa Cruz, where reception committees are planning all manner of entertainments for officers and men. The California committee announces that the uniforms of the enlisted men far from being a bar to any place of amusement, as has sometimes been known to be the case in other places, will be a mark of hospitality and welcome all along the Pacific coast.

Fleet to Circle Globe.
Washington.—Admiral Evans, battleship fleet, after leaving San Francisco, will visit Hawaii, Samoa, Melbourne and Sydney, Australia, the Philippines and return to New York by way of the Suez canal.

Secretary Metcalf announced the above future movements of the fleet after the cabinet meeting Friday. It will leave San Francisco on July 5 "for our Pacific possessions" as Mr. Metcalf styled it. The vessels will first touch at Hawaii, where they will coal. After that they will go to Samoa, following this up by a visit to Australia.

Accused of $400,000,000 Loot.
New York.—Charges that E. H. Harriman has caused a loss to the stockholders of the Union Pacific railroad of over $400,000,000 by his stock speculations with the funds of that corporation were filed with the board of directors Thursday.

Monster Budget Passes.

FIVE YEARS FOR J. R. WALSH

FORMER CHICAGO BANKER REFUSED A NEW TRIAL.

Stay Order on Appeal—All Points Raised by Attorneys for Financialer Are Overruled.

Chicago.—John R. Walsh was denied a new trial by Judge A. B. Anderson in the federal court Friday and was sentenced to five years in the government prison at Fort Leavenworth. The sentence was five years on each count on which the president of the old Chicago National bank was convicted, but it is to run concurrently. All the points raised by the attorneys for the defense in their plea for a new trial were overruled by the court, who, in his opinion, reviewed at some length the events during the trial and after the return of the verdict. An appeal to the upper court is expected to stay the execution of the sentence he now faces. In making his ruling Judge Anderson first took up the Palmer incident when that juror hesitated before replying to the poll of the jury. Judge Anderson refused in detail what occurred and said that counsel for the defendant had not objected at the time and that it was clear that Juror Palmer assented to the verdict. This finding was directly against the argument in support of the motion for a new trial.

The Walsh case involved large sums of money and presented many questions of banking and financial methods rarely called to the attention of a court.

The main contention of the government in the prosecution of the case was that Mr. Walsh in his capacity of president of the Chicago National bank had misapplied certain amounts from the funds of the bank by investing them in railroad and other enterprises with which he was connected.

Little time was lost by Attorney Miller in presenting the assignment of errors, already drawn up, to Judge Grosscup, as a judge of the United States circuit court of appeals. The stay order was entered without question by Judge Grosscup and the bond was fixed at $50,000. The appeal is expected to be taken up at the October term of court and at least until then Mr. Walsh will be free from the necessity of attending court or serving sentence behind barred doors.

ASSASSIN ALIA MUST DIE.

Murderer of Denver Priest is Sentenced to Death.

Denver, Col.—"Is there no appeal?" These were the only words spoken by Giuseppe Alia when informed by interpreter Matter that the jury found him guilty of murder in the first degree and fixed sentence at death. Just 18 days after firing the shot which brought death to Father Francis Leo Helmrichs, at the altar in St. Elizabeth's Catholic church, while in the act of administering the holy sacrament, this wail from Italy, an alleged, but not proven anarchist, heard his doom. There was absolutely no demonstration in the courtroom when the verdict was read by Foreman D. S. Johnson, a mining engineer. The floodlight had shined inevitably from the beginning and the audience received it in silence, apparently satisfied that justice had been done.

MAY NEVER BE SENTENCED

NEW TRIAL LIKELY FOR CONVICTED STATE OFFICIALS.

Four Men Found Guilty on Charge of Defrauding Pennsylvania in Furnishing New Capitol.

Harrisburg, Pa.—John H. Sanderson, the capitol furnishings contractor; former Auditor General William P. Snyder, former State Treasurer William L. Mathews and former Superintendent of Grounds and Buildings James M. Shumaker, who were Friday night found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the state, may not be called for sentence for many months, if at all. As soon as the jury, which had been sitting in the case for seven weeks, returned its verdict of guilty, as to all four men Judge Kunkel received motions for new trials and allowed 30 days in which to file the reasons. When they are entered upon the record Judge Kunkel will set a time for argument and will decide the matter at his convenience. The general belief is that no new trial will be granted, but, of course, this is more speculation. Should a retrial be refused the case will be taken to the appellate courts. The court has granted a continuance of the trial in which the defendants in this case are held.

Sanderson left for Philadelphia Saturday and Snyder and Shumaker also took trains for their homes, refusing to talk about the case. Mathews went home Friday night. Only Sanderson and Snyder were at the court house when the verdict came in, and the others were represented by counsel.

The four men were convicted of defrauding the state in furnishing the new capitol, which cost the state about $13,000,000, instead of $4,000,000, the figure at which the contract was estimated. The present case constituted one of the longest jury trials in the history of Pennsylvania courts, and it attracted much attention throughout the country. The prosecution of the alleged frauds was the outcome of the political upheaval in Pennsylvania in 1905, which resulted in the election of William H. Derry, a Democrat, as state treasurer, in the fall of that year.

MAY AMEND TRUST LAW.

Important Conference Is Held at the White House.

Washington.—An important conference was held at the White House respecting amendments to the Sherman anti-trust law. The changes in the law, it is expected, will be proposed along the lines suggested by the conference of the civic federation held in Chicago a few weeks ago. No concrete results were reached, and it is likely that further conferences will be held. The president, it is understood, is desirous that a bill embodying the conclusions of the conference if any be reached, be submitted to congress for passage at this session.

COOKE FEELS HE IS AN OUTCAST

Deposed Pastor Who Elopeed with Girl Says Life's a Failure.

San Francisco, Cal.—Jere K. Cooke, the deposed pastor of the Episcopal church at Hempstead, L. I., who eloped with Floriotha Whaley over a year ago and who, it is said, telegraphed to Mrs. Keziah Whaley, the girl's grandmother, for help and that he and family were ill and destitute, has been located in this city. The couple were found living in a suite of rooms on Masonic avenue, well to all appearances and with comfortable surroundings.

In an interview the former pastor admitted that he had telegraphed for help and that he had made a failure of everything.

"We were different from the others," said Cooke. "We cannot ask friends to help us, because we throw aside friends. We laughed at us. Lately I have begun to realize that no man, however strong he may be or however great may be his incentive, can buck the world. It is older than we and stronger."

"It is not a matter of material comfort, it's the knowledge that one is an outcast. It is the understanding that to the kindnesses you are an object of charitable curiosity and to the others just a simple cad. These are things which no man can fight and I am just tired."

SOCIAL SCIENCE CONGRESS.

First Pan-American Meeting in Santiago December 25.

Washington.—With President Roosevelt's enthusiastic approval, officials of the department of state are endeavoring to add the full weight of the leading social scientists of the United States to the deliberations of the first pan-American scientific congress, which is to be held at Santiago, Chile, next December.

Congress has been asked to appropriate $35,000 that 25 delegates may go to the congress officially representing this country. Besides, the leading universities have indicated their interest and many of them will doubtless be represented independently.

The congress is to consider American social problems, with a view to showing the advantage of all countries of this continent regulating in a uniform manner some of their institutions or public departments, thus strengthening their relations of friendship. A comprehensive program to govern the discussion, which is to begin December 25 and continue for ten days, has been arranged. It begins with a review of American civilization, its development and influence on the world. American international law is down for definition and discussion in many phases, including civil, commercial and criminal international law.

LONE BANDIT ROBS A TRAIN.

Great Northern's Oriental Limited Held Up in Idaho.

Butte, Mont.—Great Northern officials have been notified that the Oriental Limited, the crack overland train on the Great Northern system, was held up near Bonners Ferry, Idaho, early Sunday morning by a lone highwayman. Both mail clerks were bound and a considerable amount of mail matter rifled. No attempt was made to blow open the safe, according to the information received here. No estimate is obtained here as to the probable loss, but it is not believed to be heavy.

A few hours earlier Alfred Woodens, the other escaped convict, was captured by a posse 15 miles west of Mandan. The battle in which Bassanelli was killed took place in McLean county, 60 miles from Bismarck.

Bank Robbers Nab Posee.
Coffeeville, Kan.—At 11 o'clock Sunday morning three members of the Ocholata posse came upon the Tyro bank robbers on the bank of Candy creek, eight miles southwest of Ocholata, where they were waiting for an all lease cook to get dinner for them. The posse men were ordered to halt and throw up their hands. They complied at once. The robbers broke up the possemen's rifles, took away their pistols and also one of their horses and then permitted them to depart unarmed.

PERUNA EDITORIAL NO. 2.

Dr. Hartman has claimed for many years that Peruna is an EXCELLENT CATARRH REMEDY. Some of the doctor's critics have disputed the doctor's claim as to the efficacy of Peruna.

Since the ingredients of Peruna are no longer a secret, what do the medical authorities say concerning the remedies of which Peruna is composed? Take, for instance, the ingredient HYDRASTIS CANADENSIS, OR GOLDEN SEAL. The United States Dispensary says of this herbal remedy, that it is largely employed in the treatment of depraved mucous membranes, chronic rhinitis (nasal catarrh), atonic dyspepsia (catarrh of the stomach), chronic intestinal catarrh, catarrhal jaundice (catarrh of the liver), and in diseased mucous membranes of the pelvic organs. It is also recommended for the treatment of various forms of diseases peculiar to women.

Another ingredient of Peruna, CORYDALIS FORMOSA, is classed in the United States Dispensary as a tonic.

CEDRON SEEDS is another ingredient of Peruna, an excellent drug that has been very largely overlooked by the medical profession for the past fifty years. THE SEEDS ARE TO BE FOUND IN VERY FEW DRUG STORES. The United States Dispensary says of the action of cedron that it is used as a bitter tonic and in the treatment of dysentery, and in intermittent fevers as a SUBSTITUTE FOR QUININE.

OIL OF COPAIBA, another ingredient of Peruna, is classed by the United States Dispensary as a mild stimulant and diuretic. It acts on the stomach and intestinal tract. It acts as a stimulant on the genito-urinary membrane.

Our Peruna Tablet Is Peruna With Fluid Removed.

Useful in chronic cystitis, chronic dysentery and diarrhea, and some chronic diseases of the liver and kidneys. These opinions as to the ingredients of Peruna are held by all writers on the subject, including Bartholow and Scudder.

OF HYDRASTIS, BARTHOLOW SAYS it is applicable to stomatitis (catarrh of the mucous surfaces of the mouth), follicular pharyngitis (catarrh of the pharynx), chronic coryza (catarrh of the head). This writer classifies hydrastis as a stomachic tonic, useful in atonic dyspepsia (chronic gastric catarrh), catarrh of the duodenum, catarrh of the gall duct, catarrh of the intestines, catarrh of the kidneys (chronic Bright's disease), catarrh of the bladder, and catarrh of other pelvic organs.

BARTHOLOW REGARDS COPAIBA as an excellent remedy for chronic catarrh of the bladder, chronic bronchitis (catarrh of the bronchial tubes).

BARTHOLOW STATES THAT CEDRON, an ingredient of Peruna, promotes the appetite and digestion, increases the circulation of the blood. Useful in chronic nasal catarrh, follicular pharyngitis (catarrh of the pharynx), increasing the tonicity of the mucous membranes of the throat. It also relieves hoarseness. Useful in atonic dyspepsia (catarrh of the stomach), and in chronic catarrh of the colon and rectum, catarrh of the bladder, prostaticorrhea, and chronic bronchial affections.

MILLSAUGH, MEDICINAL PLANTS, one of the most authoritative works on medicinal herbs in the English language, in commenting upon COLLINSIA CANADENSIS, says that it acts on the pneumogastric and vaso motor nerves. It increases the secretions of the mucous membranes in general. In the mountains of Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Carolina, collinsia canadensis is considered a panacea for many disorders, including headache, colic, cramp, dropsy and indigestion. DR. SCUDDER regards it highly as a remedy in chronic diseases of the lungs, heart disease and asthma.

These citations ought to be sufficient to show to any candid mind that Peruna is a catarrh remedy. Surely, such herbal remedies, that command the enthusiastic confidence of the highest authorities obtainable, brought together in proper combination, ought to make a catarrh remedy of the highest efficacy.

This is our claim, and we are able to substantiate this claim by ample quotations from the HIGHEST MEDICAL AUTHORITIES IN THE WORLD.

Good Eye, Cuchullin!

Who can set bounds to the soaring imagination of the Celt? An enthusiastic New Yorker recently watching a game of hurling—which resembles lacrosse—between stalwart teams, was moved to ask President Conway of the Irish Athletic association how far a good man could drive the ball.

"Well, I'll tell you," responded Mr. Conway, with a twinkle in his eye that contradicted his serious speech. "In the good old days when Cuchullin was champion of Ireland, the king and all the nobility were assembled at the great games of Tallin. Cuchullin struck up a hurley ball into the sky, and then walked off to his pavilion and took a drink of potheen, and strolled back to the spot in good time to catch the ball on his hurley."—Harper's Weekly.

"No, John."

"Why, in his grip, of course."

ESIGHT WAS IN DANGER

Terrible Eczema—Baby's Head Mass of Itching Rash and Sores Disease Cured by Cuticura.

"Our little girl was two months old when she got a rash on her face and within five days her face and head were all one sore. We used different remedies but it got worse instead of better and we thought she would turn blind and that her ears would fall off. She suffered terribly, and would scratch until the blood came. This went on until she was five months old, then I had her under our family doctor's care, but she continued to grow worse. He said it was eczema. When she was seven months old I started to use the Cuticura Remedies and in two months our baby was a different girl. You could not see a sign of a rash and she was as fair as a new baby. She has not had a sign of eczema since. Mrs. H. F. Budke, Esau, Minn., Apr. 15 and May 2, '07."

"Come here," he said to Miss Blank, in his crude French.

"She approached. He looked closely at her."

"You are about to be married?" he said.

"Yes, your highness."

"It's late!"

LUMBAGO

This is really Rheumatism of the Muscles of the Loins and is characterized by a severe, at times, agonizing pain in the small of the back, allowing the sufferer scarcely a moment's rest, while the ailment is at its worst. It can come from cold, exposure to draft, from getting wet feet or wearing wet or damp clothing. It causes acute suffering, and if allowed to become chronic it may permanently disable the sufferer. The way to secure quickest relief is to rub the skin over the painful part with rubbing with a flesh brush or piece of flannel rag, and then apply ST. JACOBS OIL by gentle friction with the hand.

A New Woman's Marriage. Mrs. Ellen Glyn, the English novelist, who attempts, in her little books, to shock in the French manner, decided the "how woman" at a dinner in New York.

"So your sister, the senior wrangler, one girl said to another, 'Is very happily married, I hear?'"

"Indeed she is," the other girl answered. "She is most happily married. Her husband doesn't open his mouth in her presence."

CLIMATE IS IDEAL

GREAT WEALTH ACQUIRED IN GROWING GRAIN.

Writing from Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada, W. H. Ellwanger, who was formerly a resident of Green Mountain, Iowa, says: "The climate in summer is ideal for growing grain. Long, clear days of sunshine, no bad storms. We never need to guard against cyclones; I never saw a better climate in my life. We made more money during the season of 1906 than any previous five years in central Iowa—one of the best districts in the state." But Mr. Ellwanger was a resident of the town, and it might be more interesting to read what a farmer has to say about Western Canada. From hundreds of letters all filled with words of praise, recounting success in Western Canada there has been one selected. It is as follows:

Paynton, Sask., Canada, Dec. 10th, 1907.

To Whom This May Concern:

I moved to this address February 3, 1907, from Montgomery, Iowa, and took a homestead 36 miles north of Paynton. It was cold when I moved here but it did not stay cold long; it broke up the 8th of February, and was not so cold after that but the spring was late on account of the heavy snow fall, but in spite of the late spring I saw better grain than I ever saw in the states, raised this year. I helped a man finish sowing oats the 4th of July and they made fair oats. In a good year oats will go 100 bushels to the acre and wheat 25 to 50; all root crops do well here. I saw turnips weigh 7 and 8 pounds. I raised potatoes this year that measured 11 1/2 inches one way and 1 1/2 the other in circumference. This is a fine stock country; hay in abundance, good water, plenty of fuel, free and plenty of building material—the government gives us lumber to saw into lumber and we can get it sawed for about $0.00 per thousand. All small fruits grow wild here, then there are ducks, geese, grouse, pheasants, deer, moose, elk and fish in abundance. I was over to Turtle Lake yesterday where there is lots of fishing being done this winter. I saw about a carload of white fish in one pile. I gave 25 cents for 86 pounds of fish. What do you think of that, Brother Yankee? I think this is a fine place both to make money and to live. There was an old man up here visiting his brother-in-law. Now this man owns land close to Des Moines, Iowa, and is in good circumstances, but he took a homestead and says he will be contented if he can only put in the rest of his days in Canada. He would get up in the morning and look out of the door and say: "Well, who wouldn't live in Canada?" Now I have been in 13 different states in the United States, and I never saw the chance that there is here for a man that has a little muscle and a little brains. Three cheers for Canada! (Signed) W. A. SPIOE.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me during this trying period."

HOW TO KNOW PURE PAINT.

A Way in Which It May Be Identified Before Using.

After a building has been painted long enough for a weather test, it is easy to tell if the paint used was made of pure White Lead or not. But such related knowledge comes like locking the barn after the colt is stolen.

What one wants is a test that will tell the quality of the paint before it and the labor of putting it on are paid for.

Nature has provided a way in which genuine White Lead may be positively distinguished from adulterated or fake White Lead before you spend a cent on your painting.

Pure White Lead is made from metallic lead, and under intense heat, such as is produced by a blow-pipe, pure White Lead will resolve itself back into metallic lead. If, however, it is not genuine White Lead, or if it contains the slightest trace of adulteration, the change will not take place. Therefore the "blow-pipe" test is an absolute and final one.

The National Lead Company are urging everyone interested in painting to make this test of paint before using it, and they guarantee that the pure White Lead sold under their "Dutch Boy Painter" trade-mark will always prove absolutely pure under the "blow-pipe" or any other test. To make it easy for you to perform this experiment they will send you free upon request a blow-pipe and everything necessary for you to make the test, together with a valuable booklet, on paint. Address, National Lead Company, Woodbridge Building, New York City.

Test of the Housekeeper.

Some one fond of generalizing has said that the conditions of the window reveal the character of the housekeeper. A small quantity of water with alcohol in it is recommended as the best medium for window cleaning, with a newspaper rub afterward. A dry clean for a window may be made with liquid whiting spread over it, and there are numerous substances sold for the purpose that make it possible to keep the windows so clean that even an indifferent housekeeper may get the credit of being a better one by virtue of her clean windows.

Witty French Writer.

Of Edmund About it is said that to those who saw him for the first time he seemed to be an intellectual millionaire, but his pockets were full of fifty-centime pieces. He once wrote in a feuilleton that Alboni's singing (who was fat) was "like a nightingale plucking out of a lump of suet." The indignant prima donna sent him a goosie quill by the hands of a marquis. About received the pen with his most charming smile, and said: "I regret, sir, that Mme. Alboni should have plucked you for my sake."
